

Autism Spectrum Disorders in the Classroom

November 15 - 16, 2007

Miami Area, FL

The Inclusive Classroom, presented by Paula Kluth, Ph.D.

Participants will learn practical ways of supporting students with autism spectrum disorders (ASD) and other significant disabilities. Topics addressed include defining ASD, differentiating instruction in the diverse classroom, encouraging literacy development, making the classroom comfortable for all learners, and supporting behaviors and bodies of students with a range of needs. This interactive presentation will focus on the importance of pushing beyond participation and inclusion to asking schools to understand every student as a complex and capable learner.

Nov 15

Curricular Adaptations, presented by Patrick Schwarz, Ph.D.

Considering the specific learning and support needs for students with autism spectrum disorders (ASD) in the inclusive classroom, participants of this workshop will learn processes to adaptively personalize and improve the quality of educational settings. Included will be how to provide rationales for curricular adaptations, differentiated instruction and universal design in the general classroom, how to set up an IEP-at-a-glance tool for supporting students, how to orchestrate a planning process so student needs are creatively met in a quality fashion and ideas for differentiation and universal design.
